About Me

Lover of the English language with an instinctive feel for both its idiosyncratic grammar and rich vocabulary with excellent communication skills

Strong inter-personal skills and flair for verbal and written communication, ability to grasp the fundamentals and learn quickly, multi-disciplinary, adaptable person

Desires to train students to become fluent and effective communicators – to help them thrive in today's modern academic and corporate world

Well-versed with teaching all kinds of English language and communication skills - English language speaking and writing classes, general and business communication skills, preparation for internationally recognised language proficiency tests including but not limited to the Cambridge Qualifications Exams, TOEFL, GRE, IELTS, Duolingo English Test, CELPIP, LanguageCert and SAT.

Work Experience

Well-received Teaching Ability

- Placement Readiness Training at Aditya Institute of Management Studies and Research
- Written Analysis and Communication at NL Dalmia Institute of Management Studies and Research
- English Skills Enhancement at St Pius Seminary and Training College
- ETS certified TOEFL Master Trainer and Trainer
- Senior Trainer and Mentor for the Cambridge English Qualifications Programme(CEQP)
- Certified LanguageCert Trainer

Students, whether they are my own children, primary students at schools running the Cambridge Qualification programmes, or first year management students trying to get around mundane topics like report writing, all enjoy my classes because of my ability to innovate and combine learning with fun, no matter what the age group or the individual ability.

Exceptional Writing Skills –

- Worked as a freelance writer from February 2008 to August 2012

The English language's siren call has been omnipresent even while I was not teaching - at college it was prize-winning articles for the college magazine and active participation in the editorial activities of the magazine, at my day job as a software tester it was extensive coverage of corporate events, cultural in-house events, and sports competitions, complete makeovers of employee article submissions and a well-appreciated series of articles and presentations covering an in-house product launch. I even prepared technical documents for the software testing process, training material for new team members – efforts which earned me kudos from both top bosses and clients.

As a freelance writer and editor, I wrote regularly for several well-known Indian and international publications including OpticPlus, Complete Wellbeing, Diamond World, Indian Jeweller, HT Café, Live IT, Harmony, Tarla Dalal, Solitaire and Silver Styles.

Other Corporate experience –

- Software tester with Oracle Financial Services (then known as i-flex solutions ltd.) August 2001-February 2005
