Junoon, the Cultural Society of Sarla Anil Modi School of Economics, organised Bollywood Bonanza. The event was hosted online via Zoom and all students from SAMSOE were invited. The event began with a treasure hunt in which all teams were divided into breakout rooms where the teams had to solve various questions, puzzles etc. pertaining to Bollywood movies and songs and progress through the 7 different stages of the treasure hunt. Through the initial round 8 teams were short listed for a heated round of Antakshari which was thoroughly enjoyed by all participants. In the final round 4 teams competed against each other for victory through audio visual rounds and then finally a rapid fire round to declare the final winner of the event. The event was well received by the teaching and admin faculty. It was successful only because of the continuous guidance of Professor Nahid Fatema, Professor Anu Abraham and Professor Sneha Kotian.

This cultural event was organized by the Fine Arts department, SPPSPTM. The following events were conducted Online from 21st October-14th November, 2020.

Make it Wow highlighted the importance of 'regard before you discard' and gave students the opportunity to express their imagination and resourcefulness. Students were asked to utilize any inexpensive, readily available reusable material like cups, plates, old t-shirts, coconut shells, used plastic bottles, etc., to create an artistic artefact. The artefacts were judged on the criteria of originality, technique and execution, affordability, productivity, the number of recyclable items used and aesthetic appeal. This event not only enhanced the student's creativity and presentation skills but also helped students realize the significance of recycling and reusing waste material to move one step further towards saving the environment.

Paint it Black event allowed the students to portray their creativity with only two colors- black and white. All the talented artists of SPPSPTM displayed a unique sense of imagination and individuality as they put their thoughts to paper with a brush.

Real-Reel is a documentary/short-film-making event, where students had to convert their thoughts into a meaningful film. There were two possible themes from that participants had to choose. One was "Life in a Pandemic," where participants could gain inspiration from the happenings of 2020. The other theme was "Shoot your shot," where participants were free to express their artistic whims on any topic of their choice.

Wordsmith encouraged students to explore and showcase their creativity with words. It called upon aspiring poets, mysterious writers, and daydreamers to indulge in their senses and paint a picture with literature. The theme was "HALCYON – When times were idyllically happy and peaceful."

Mind Matrix was organized to encourage the participants to be alert, analytical, and good critical thinkers. It was based on logical reasoning and puzzle solving. This time-based event involved solving equations, number sequence problems, decoding and it tested our general knowledge

Raise the Mic presents a platform for our talented students to express their emotions with a song. They were free to select any song in any language of their choice and the time limit was around 3-4 minutes.

Crescendo allowed instrumentalists and musicians to wow the audience with their talent. They were free to select any instrument of their choice for 6 minutes.

Footloose was organized for students to move and dance gracefully to the rhythm and beat. There were two categories, Solo and Group, and received entries from all over India.

Panache was originally a fashion show. This year due to the Pandemic, participants were asked to dress up and create an outfit that reciprocated a famous character related to web series or movies.
