Objective of the Event

Product management involves overseeing the lifecycle of a product, from inception to market launch and beyond. The main objective of the event is to upgrade skills of MBA students and make them industry ready. The objective is to create a platform where students can learn, collaborate, innovate, and grow professionally within their respective technical domains. It was an Interactive session with question-and-answer sessions.

Summit conducted a Product Management Workshop in collaboration with Phoenix Global. A product management workshop typically covers various aspects of product management, which is the process of conceiving, developing, launching, and iterating products that solve real-world problems for customers. Here's a structured outline for a product management workshop. The workshop primarily targets incoming 1st-year students to help them get upskilled for their summer internships.

Outcome of event

Summit conducted a Product Management Workshop in collaboration with Phoenix Global. Mr. Kesari Kumar and Mr. Ayush were the guests at the event. It followed a hands-on approach consisting of live training by an industry expert for 2 days and a live project (from Amazon) to be completed by each student so that they can develop a good understanding of the concepts taught during the sessions.
